

WHAT IS... A STUDY PROGRAMME

What is a Study Programme?

Study programmes are designed to meet individual learning needs and prepare for higher learning, training, or employment. All study programmes should include work experience to support the student to progress to further or higher education, such as university or to employment.

What to expect:

- Providers should take particular care to tailor study programmes to the individual aspirations and needs of students with SEND, in discussion with the student.
- While some students with SEND should be on study programmes focused on helping them achieve qualifications, others will gain more benefit from a traineeship, supported internship or other study programmes that helps them prepare for employment and adult life.

WHAT IS...

A STUDY PROGRAMME

Do you need a study programme?

It might be useful to write your strengths and challenges below, to allow you to discuss whether a study programme might be suitable for you.

